Up to Sunday last frost had not injured the stuff in the H. B. Co. garden at Athabasca Landing, ninety miles north of Edmonton.

THE woods are becoming beautifully colored this week. They only began to change color on Monday last, the 15th. This is later than usual.

ALEX. HAMELIN of Lac la Biche who was in town last week reports the crops at that lake looking well and uninjured by frost up to August 30th.

JAS. REED of Fort Saskatchewan raised 305 pounds of potatoes from 5 pounds of seed this season. The seed was a new variety imported by mail.

LANEY HIBBARD of Winnipeg, who was a fur buyer at Edmonton some years ago, now drives a team of moose, which are well broken to harness.

A PARTY consisting of S. Wilkinson, J. S. Edmonton, Chas. Sandison, J. R. Reid and W. Borwick left on Friday for the Landing and Lesser Slave river. They are employed by the H. B. Co. to take boulders out of the Slave river.

A HAIL storm occurred in Edmonton and immediate vicinity on Tuesday evening. The hail stones were small but were accompanied by a high wind and followed by a heavy rain. The area affected by the hail was very small and no damage is reported.

CROPS at Victoria 80 miles northeast of Edmonton on the Saskatchewan river are good this year, being ripe and harvested before the frost of last week. They were chiefly barley and oats. Victoria is at the most northerly point touched by the Saskatchewan.

GRADERS were at work on the C. & E. railway line four miles north of Blind Man when the last stage passed. About fifty miles of the grade is now completed and the distance to be finished this fall will depend entirely on the length of the working season. All the outfits from the Prince Albert road are now at work and men and teams are being hired as fast as they can be procured. The grading near the Bow river and the Bow bridge were to be completed on Saturday, September 13th and tracklaying was to have commenced on Monday the 15th.

J. S. WALKER, C. P. R. land examiner and party, arrived from Lake St. Ann on Sunday. A great deal of work was done around Lake St. Ann and a less amount around White Whale lake. The party did not go very far past Lake St. Ann. They are now working north of town.

MR. TODD, who arrived last week from Calgary has decided to take land in this district and left for the south on Wednesday to return with his family who are now in Oregon. He took Malcolm McLeod's farm at Little Mountain on shares for next season before leaving.

SCOTT SIMPSON of the H. B. Co. transport service on the upper Athabasca arrived from the Landing on Tuesday. He leaves to-day with a party of men to remove boulders from the Lesser Slave river in order to make a practicable steamboat channel. The work will be continued at least until the ice forms. No doubt is felt that it will be a success.

A HEAVY fall of snow occurred in Calgary on Tuesday night, Wednesday and Wednesday night of last week. The snow lay ten inches deep on the level in Calgary on Thursday morning and there was a very hard frost. The snow fall extended north to Red Deer but was very light there. At Lone Pine the snow was still on the ground on Friday.

No frost had occurred at Beaver lake to injure the potato vines up to the 17th instant. Crops are good and mostly cut, but the wet weather has interfered greatly with haying and harvest. Although the season has been so wet and a number of large creeks empty into the lake Beaver river the outlet of the lake to the Saskatchewan is not even running. Geese and ways have begun to arrive from the north.

H. S. YOUNG and P. Daly returned from a trip to Lake St. Ann and White Whale lake on Monday. Sport is good in that locality. Indians at White Whale lake are catching a good many fish, but the fishing at Lake St. Ann has not commenced yet. The weather has been even more rainy than at Edmonton. Grain crops are good but were late and some injury was done by frost on September 9th. The roads are very bad.

R. JAEVIS was in town on Wednesday from his hay contract on the C. & E. railway line. He is putting up hay in ten ton lots every five miles along the route from Wolf Creek to Boggy plain for use in the construction of the road this fall or next spring. A very large amount of hay is being put up in the vicinity of the Blind Man, where Strevel's, Mann Bros. and others of the large outfits are preparing to winter. R. F. Shaw and Thos. Stewart who are now working at the Blind Man will put up 100 tons between the Boggy Plain and Edmonton this fall.

Prof. Robertson of the Central experimental farm lectured on farming subjects recently in Calgary. In the course of his lecture he mentioned that a mixed crop of oats, peas and barley cut green yielded four tons to the acre at Brandon and there was more feed in a ton than in a ton of hay. Speaking of dairying he thought the western farmer would get a return of $1 from a creamery against 65c. from a cheese factory. He mentioned the Manitoba maple as a good tree to grow on the prairies but Wm. Pearce remarked that it did not grow west of Crowfoot crossing. At Edmonton it grows more luxuriantly than in Manitoba.

M. H. McLEOD, engineer in charge of the survey of the Calgary & Edmonton railway line arrived from his camp at Peace hills on Wednesday morning to procure supplies. The location of the line is completed to Peace hills. From that point a trial line only will be run to Edmonton which will occupy about two weeks. The party will then return to Peace Hills and take up the location work which will be brought to Edmonton. Owing to the greater quantity of timber in this part of the country the work will not progress as fast from Peace Hills north as from Barnett's to Peace Hills. Mr. McLeod returned to Peace Hills on Thursday.

A MEETING of the directors of the Edmonton agricultural society was held in McCauley & Ibbotson's office on Tuesday evening 16th inst. The meeting was well attended and the following resolutions were carried unanimously: That in competition for the H. B. Company Cup points be given as follows:—1st prizes, stock 5, grain 4, roots and dairy 3 points; 2nd prizes, stock 4, grain 3, roots and dairy 2 points; 3rd prizes, stock 3, grain 2, roots and dairy 1 point. A committee was appointed to revise the prize list and the day of exhibition was fixed for Friday October 17th. The meeting adjourned to meet in the school house on Saturday, October 11th at 2 p. m.

W. GORDON CUMMING left on Wednesday for the head waters of Smoky river, a large tributary of the Peace, to hunt, trade and prospect for gold during this fall and the coming winter. He is accompanied by D. E. Noyes of the St. Albert road, who was with him at the Jasper House last winter, and who has had a large experience as a hunter, trader and miner in this region. Mr. Cumming has travelled and hunted in many parts of the world, and takes with him a very complete outfit. If there is any truth in the frequent reports of gold on the Smoky river there is very little doubt that the fact will be established by Messrs Cumming and Noyes. The river has never been prospected by miners on account of the difficulty of reaching its upper waters. Their trading post will be at White Mud lake on the Jasper House trail.

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITION.

The date of the 9th annual exhibition of the Edmonton agricultural society is fixed for Friday, October 17th, and the prize list which will be liberal, is now in course of preparation. A special attraction of the forthcoming exhibition will be the silver cup presented for competition by the Hudson's Bay Company, which is to be held by the exhibitor making the greatest number of potatoes in the prize won, according to a scale provided. If the cup is won two years in succession by the same exhibitor it becomes his property. It is to be hoped that no effort will be spared on the part of the officers and members of the society or the general public of the district, and particularly the farming section of the community, to make the exhibition a success. The date is sufficiently late to ensure that the hurry of labor on the farm will be over for the season, and sufficiently early to miss very cold weather.

With each succeeding year in the history of the district it becomes more and more important that the annual fall show should be made a success—a true representation of the progress that the district has made and the improvement that has taken place in the methods of farming. The standard excuse for shortcoming—the newness of the country—has less and less force every year, and unless the annual exhibitions show an annual improvement it will be taken for granted that the country has not progressed, as it certainly has. In a season such as this when the promise of early summer has not been altogether fulfilled it is well for the general encouragement, and particularly for the encouragement of the new settlers of whom there are a considerable number this year, that the best of what has been produced should be brought together, to show what has been done in some cases and might have been done in very many more if not in all had similar methods been followed. Besides prospective settlers, men connected with the railway company are coming in occasionally and will be coming more frequently as the work gets nearer and it is greatly in the interests of Edmonton town and district that these men should be strongly impressed with the agricultural capabilities of this region and of the numbers and energy of the population. The railway company has a direct interest in the settlement of the country and so have the people already in it. If it is shown—as it can be shown by a good agricultural exhibition—that the Edmonton district is superior as an agricultural region to any other section along their line it is natural that the company will give the colonization of this section their first attention, and as well will be more inclined to incur expenses towards the development of the country, as they would not if it appeared to them that that the region was less suited for farming operations than other parts of their grant. In past years it was a matter of comparatively small importance what show was made by Edmonton before outsiders, but now the case is different and it is of the greatest importance that the superiority of this over other regions of the territories as an agricultural, stock raising and dairying district should be fully demonstrated.

The feeling that interest in the exhibition should be measured by the number of prizes won or the amount of prize money secured has been too prevalent in the past and has been one great draw back to success. It is to be hoped that this year—while the prizes will be liberal, and there should be every care to have them distributed strictly according to merit—exhibitors will look beyond the mere question of prizes and will place attaches on exhibition rather to show the success they have attained in these particular lines and to prove the capabilities of the country than to merely lead their neighbors and win prizes. If there is one thing that this district is stronger in than another it is in the variety and luxuriance of its native grasses and the present is a year of more than ordinary luxuriance. The growth of these many kinds of grasses speaks for the fertility of the soil and suitability of the climate, for the agricultural, stock raising and dairying capabilities of the district, as nothing else can. Without regard to prize winning or prize money there should be a strong effort made to have a large and fully representative exhibit of these native grasses pulled by the roots and put in such shape as would permit their being placed on permanent exhibition here and elsewhere. Along the same line there are many products not mentioned in the prize list which one or another settler in this or that part of the district may have that would be of great interest and value to the public, placed on exhibition. This would include specimens of wild fruits, of minerals, of timber, of wild birds or animals, as well as agricultural products. Outsiders want to know what the natural productions of the country are quite as much as what it can be made to produce by the expenditure of science and labor. It is really a better index to the actual value of the district. The lateness of the date at which the exhibition is to be held unfortunately makes it impossible to afterwards take part in any exhibitions elsewhere, but there need be no fear on that account that the efforts made to produce or procure articles suitable for exhibition elsewhere will therefore be thrown away. The C. P. R. hand commissioner has given his assurance that he will be glad to take charge of all such exhibits or samples and will place them on exhibition, properly credited to Edmonton, in the C. P. R. exhibition car and in the company's offices in Montreal, New York and London. This is an offer that has never before been made, it is a good offer and one that should have its effect on every man interested in the progress and prosperity of the district. It should if there was no other reason insure a first class exhibition on October 17th.

The Regina Journal sends a marked copy containing an editorial explaining that Lieutenant-governor Royal is using his position to pack the Northwest government library with Roman Catholic doctrinal and class books, and that the library purchased with public money is not open to the public. The Bulletin thinks it highly improper that the lieutenant-governor should be permitted to use the public funds as he pleases without regard to the interests or wishes of the people of the Northwest whose money it is or ought to be. But as the power to do so is given him by proper authority and not usurped by him the Bulletin cannot see that personal blame attaches to him for exercising that power—in fact he would be remiss in his duty if he did not exercise it. Regarding complaint No. 1: If the library exists for the information of the Northwest government, including the members of the assembly, considering the class of questions that come before the government and assembly, it does not appear to be improper that there should be Roman Catholic and other doctrinal and class books included in the library. Regarding complaint No. 2: The fact that the library in question is purchased with public money successfully implies that it should be open to the public. The general public have purchased these books for a certain purpose and it may or may not accord with the best serving of that purpose to permit the individual public to have free access to them.

When attempts are being made to excite the farmers of Ontario in favor of Commercial union with the United States. A farmers' picnic was extensively advertised to be held at Niagara on the lake on a day near the end of August, when the hurry of harvest was over, to be addressed on the subject of commercial union by Messrs. Goldwin Smith, Ernest Wintan and Attorney-general Longley of Nova Scotia. The day was fine, the arrangements perfect, the speeches grand, logical and conclusive, and the whole affair was a great success except in one minor particular—the farmers did not attend. The commercial unionists promise too much and their scheme has too much of the spic and the fly appearance to take well with the horny handed, but sharp enough witted, one of tell of the good province of Ontario. If the liberal party goes into the next general election on the platform of commercial union there will be no liberal party when the election is over—as there might just as well not be right now.

DAKOTA HARVEST.

A local paper of North Dakota has the following in a recent issue:

The best service that can be rendered North Dakota at this time by the newspaper press is to tell the truth, fully, clearly and unreservedly, regarding the agricultural and financial situation. This country has reached a point where it cannot invite immigration, cannot retain what settlers it has and must become hopelessly bankrupt unless a system of irrigation be adopted or some means be found to insure crops or give the people profitable employment. Charity was accepted in special cases last winter; it will have to be bestowed much more generally next winter. The farmers have tried to raise two crops on a rainfall of about eight inches. The rainfall of 1889 and 1890, added to the snow of the intervening winter makes less than a foot of water. There has been less than 12 inches of water on these prairies since May 1st, 1889, in which period two crops have been harvested. This is drought in its worst form. It is a drought which has ruined thousands and is driving farmers out of the state as rapidly as they can go. The man would be a fool and worse than a fool who would attempt to cover up the true situation. The people can no longer be deluded with the false hopes of the boomer. This country must have irrigation to save what property has been developed and what homes have been established. Without it all is lost. Unless we can get the artesian well system the land will have to be given over to stockmen, for its worthlessness in the production of grain. The writer would be the last to proclaim this, were it not true. The wheat crop of 1890, outside of the Red river valley is almost a total failure. The yield is lighter and the quality poorer than in 1889. Threshing is now in progress all over the state and reveals that hundreds of farmers will not get the value of their seed. The worst has not yet been told. On scores of well-tilled farms in Elm and Ada townships, as well as elsewhere in Dickey county, large fields of grain were not cut, and scores more have turned out two to four bushels of shrunken wheat to the acre. William Mock, Elm township, leaves 175 acres of flax on the ground because it is not worth cutting. Many cases can be cited where the grain, when threshed, did not yield enough to pay the cost of cultivation. The settlers and the state have got beyond the point where they can be benefited by arousing public sentiment to the occasion. Farmers, business men and capitalists who still have interests to protect here must unite in giving this semi-arid region the much-needed irrigation. What is true of Dickey county is true of all the northwestern counties in South Dakota, including Brown and Edmunds, two of the largest and finest districts in the state.

A public meeting of the citizens of Calgary, Mayor Lafferty presiding, was held on Friday evening, September 5th to discuss the following proposition: "That we offer the C. P. R. the public park west of the town, provided the government and the people agree to it, and exemption from taxation for twenty years on all improvements in connection with new works, on condition that they move the divisional points from Gleichen and Canmore to Calgary and that when repair shops are located west of Winnipeg they are to be located in Calgary, and that the works be located on section 17." The resolution was supported by D. W. Marsh, G. Alexander, P. McCarthy, T. A. McLean, Senator Loughheed and the mayor. It was opposed by J. R. Costigan, A. Carney, W. F. Orr and Major Walker, but was carried by a large majority. Although that fact does not appear to have been mentioned the trouble arose out of the location of the C. & E. junction and yards east of the Elbow, and the possibility, which was part of the C. & E. scheme, that the C. P. R. would some time abandon Gleichen to the east and Canmore to the west as divisional points and establish the necessary round houses and shops at the C. & E. junction, where they would be as available for that road as far the main line. Judging from the report of the speeches appearing in the Tribune and Herald the attempt to remove the junction appears to have been given up and all the forces of the town are being concentrated on preventing the future location of C. P. R. shops in the hated rival town. The Herald remarks editorially: "The citizens of Calgary would be the veriest towards in existence, they would not deserve the name of men, they would deserve to be held in universal contempt, if they failed at this juncture to ensure themselves against the consequences which the land speculators beyond the Elbow wish to bring upon the town." And further speaks of "the designs and selfish schemes of a handful of land owners east of the Elbow" who have boldly and unscrupulously threatened the property and commercial prospects of the people of Calgary, who have manifested their determination to destroy Calgary. It says: "It matters not to the citizens who or what influences are in alliance with the land jobbers, a stern fate must be kept towards all such influences and they must be fought down. The results of years of labor, of sacrifice, of heavy demands upon the purse, must not be permitted to be wiped out to enable a few individuals (who have done nothing to build up Calgary) to sell land by the foot which they bought by the acre." One of the parties thus alluded to by the Herald is Major Walker, who established the first saw mill in Calgary, before the arrival of the railway, and who has since paid out as much as $35,000 in one year as wages. Another is Wm. Pearce, a high and highly trusted official of the interior department of the government on whose pay the Herald desires to feed. C. & E. railway stock will doubtless rule low in the money market of Calgary just now. It will strike most people that if all these hysterics are justified by the proposed location of a railway junction and workshops within two miles of the present town of Calgary the commercial prosperity of the said town must rest upon a very tectery foundation. The Herald should not give it away so badly.

The C. P. R. has published 25,000 copies of an immigration pamphlet recently compiled by J. G. Fitzgerald of Calgary.

The rate of taxation in Calgary this season has been struck at 1 1/2c. on the dollar.
